- Full UK based support team - simple technical support by phone and email
- UK based Data centres - easy access to emergency data restores

Select the solution(s) to suit your Customers

We help you mix and match the different types of backup services you provide to best suit your customer requirements - all using your aggregated bulkVault.

LAN speed restores

When your customers have lost data, they will not wait days or even weeks for their data to trickle restore over the internet - it could kill their business - that's why our solutions can restore customer data at LAN speed straight from discs on their local network.

Local support

We are based in the uk, so if you need it, we can also provide customer emergency restore discs straight to your door.

How our charging works

You sell space to your customers, the backup compresses the data and uploads. They may not use all their allocation, but you are only charged for the space used.
